

We're on the look out for volunteers

As a volunteer with NHS Quality Improvement Scotland you will play a vital role in helping us to improve the safety and quality of patient care. Our volunteers work with us to ensure the voice of patients and the public is heard in everything we do. As a volunteer you could take part in a range of work, for example as a member of a review team visiting health boards in Scotland to assess their performance, or as a member of a project group developing advice and guidance to support improvement in health services.

If you are a confident communicator with good analytical skills, have a genuine desire to help us improve health care services in Scotland and are able to dedicate approximately one day a month to work with us, we'd like to hear from you.

We specifically ask that you have not been employed in the health service within the last 5 years. You do not require previous experience as we will provide you with appropriate training. You would be expected to undertake some travel throughout Scotland and overnight stays when required (expenses will be paid).

This is an excellent opportunity for you to get involved and make a difference to the way health care is delivered in Scotland. For informal enquires please contact:
Joyce Mouriki (0141 225 5565) joyce.mouriki@nhs.net

For an application pack

Email: annemiller@nhs.net or Tel: 0131 623 4328

(Please respond by 8 March 2010 to be considered for the next intake)